General Reduction in Ore Treatment Charges Is Made

TONOPAH BELMONT BY NEW SCHEDULE MAKES MUCH ORE AMENABLE

The Tonopah Belmont Development company made announcement this morning concerning new treatment charges on ore that will become effective on March 1. The new schedule provides a horizontal reduction on all grades of ore varying from 75 cents down to 50 cents a ton, which will no doubt permit of a vast tonnage of the lower grade ore of this district being handled at a small margin of profit, whereas such is now impossible.

The heaviest cut in milling charges will affect ores having a value up to $20 a ton. The previous treatment charge was $5.25 a ton, but under the new schedule the price is reduced to $4.50 a ton.

On ores having a value of from $20 to $25 a ton, the new treatment charge will be $5 a ton, as against $5.50 which has been in effect.

On ores having a value of over $25 a ton, the new treatment charge will be $5.50 a ton, plus 1 per cent of average. In other words, if the ore carries values of $30 a ton, the milling charge will be $6 a ton, and increased until a $50 product would cost $7.50 for milling.

The new schedule should unquestionably result in an increased production from this district. In cases where large bodies of ore are available, and the same can be milled even at a profit of 50 cents a ton, the leaser is given an incentive to prepare for heavy shipments.

OIL BASIN IS LIKELY TO SEE STANDARD RIG

Exploitation of the oil resources of Oil Basin, known to many as Curran creek, is not beyond the realm of possibility. In fact, a number of California people have become interested in Oil Basin, through the efforts of William Nance, well known in Tonopah and southern Nevada, who at present is in Stockton.

Mr. Nance says he expects to connect with a drilling rig in the near future, and has offered the suggestion that a consolidation of various companies be effected, or at least that the resources pooled for the purpose of sinking a well with all possible speed to prove up the worth of the district. The proposition seems to be a good policy to follow out the ideas of Mr. Nance.

In a letter to Harry McNamara of recent date, Mr. Nance says he expects to have a rig on the ground in the near future and that he is confident he will be able to realize a good working fund. "If all the companies in the Oil Basin would put their funds and efforts into one outfit," Mr. Nance writes, "then I am sure we could accomplish something and do it quickly. Tell your people around there and see what they say. If the rig is secured I am sure all hands concerned will keep it going."
